I need to convert to and from degrees and a perfunctory call to Math.cos which will do my maths. I was wondering, is there a cleaner way of doing this without all the hackery? More than that I have used lots of "hacky" code in my time. I understand if I am doing it better it makes the code work more easily. If you know a better (and less hacky) way to achieve my objective I would like to know. Thanks NOTE: The following is a single solution for converting to and from degrees to radians. I do this
