SIGNING UP: New features introduced in FIFA 22 include the ability to sign up and play online with friends in the Player Career, better communication in the Squad Management and Game Design, and the introduction of the Skill Stick. FIFA Soccer, the only true global football simulation, offers teams the chance to create and manage their own club through the Player Career. With 22 playable leagues from around the world, fully licensed teams, and an individual career path, the Player Career provides players with the tools to fulfill their potential as a professional player. The new Squad Management features gives the player the ability to communicate and to manage their squad through the in-game menus and on the Training Grounds, and also with their friends using the new Social Hub. New Skill Stick options are also available to give players access to the unique, immersive player experience. Building a League: Players can bring their created League and customize the game to their individual style in the Game Design screen. Add new stadiums, players and managers to customise your league as you grow it and become a leading team in your chosen country. Countries: You can now play in 22 different countries, using each region's unique stadiums and markets. In addition, the country-specific kits in career, online and offline modes also reflect the "local" stadiums and transport of their team. My Career: What's next: Players can now share their Player Career online to show off their skills, with friends around the world. A weekly leaderboard, and competitive mode where players compete to become the best and earn high scores, provide other players the chance to compete with the best in the world. Players can now sign up and play online with friends in FIFA 22. Players can create a unique squad of up to 14 players, build a reputation as a player online and compete with friends in the "My Career" system. With the Player Career system, players can choose to pursue different paths within a career, while they choose the most efficient path for their own individual style of play. Career Mode enables players to: Create a new team and begin your journey in a new country Manage your squad on the Training Grounds and recruit new players Dynamically develop the team and play to your strengths Roster preview, new transfer market and coaching overview. In addition, players can update their teams by viewing transfers on the new Transfer Market screen and coach players by
